The Board of Trade Discusses the Vexed Water Question at Its Meeting.

Many Sources of Supply Suggested With Some Objections Offered to All.

City Council Asked to Investigate the Missouri River Plan and Report.

That important topic, water, the ques tion of providing an unlimited supply, was | dent of the United States, will be observed discussed in all its phases by a representa- in Helena, as elsewhere. It will be a demof Trade rooms last night. Some of these at Assembly hall, Granite block, Main were L. H. Hershfield, T. H. Kleinschmidt, R. C. Wallace, E. W. Knight, Alderman Cumming, Postmaster Curtis, H. M. Par- and praise service from 9 to 10, of all the Reeder and Major R. C. Walker, secretary | the Assembly hall. of the board. The Missouri river source was first spoken of, and to convey it in a will commence at 10 o'clock, Hon. E. D. ditch would require one seventy-five miles | Weed, chairman.

Col. Curtis-That would cost at least from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. Mr. Kleinschmidt-Where are you going to get the money? Col. Curtis—Where do we ever get money for public enterprises? Where do railroad projects get money from? The promoters of the latter very rarely advance their own money for these enterprises. We can issue bonds.

Some one asked "Who is going to pay the interest?" when Mr. Kleinschmidt said he thought the city could get all the water necessary from Ten Mile creek, above Kessler's. There is plenty there for present needs, which could be pumped and conveyed to the city at a cost not to exceed $50,000. Another point is at Diamond springs, where a spring furnishes a good supply and of good quality.

Mr. Parchen—All the water in all tinumerous creeks around here would not be sufficient for Helena. The prohibition party is growing also; you should not overlook this point.

Kleinschmidt—If we had 50,000 or 100,000 or 100,0 population Chessman's ditch at Ten Mile would furnish enough water, if properly husbanded. There is fifty times more water wasted in this country by seepage in one square than is used in one acre of farming land in the east. The Jefferson river was then urged as an available source. Mr. Knight said that twenty years ago S. T. Hauser had a survey made from the Jefferson over the mountain to Helena, the cost of which was est mated to be $1,000,000. The next scheme was to tap the Missouri at Toston, a distance of forty-five miles, and from there turn the stream into Ten cussion. "The latter," said Mr. Hale, "contains an amount of water greater than the Hale ditch ever had, and more than the Woolston works ever pumped."

"Another plan, and the most feasible one yet presented," said Mr. Kleinschmidt, "is to secure the water from Canyon creek. It is to secure the water from Canyon creek. It is to secure the water and even now has 1,000 inches of water, and even now furnishes a supply for irrigation in the valley, which could be run into the Wool water works. It is as pure as crystal, and only twenty miles from here, and could be brought in here in four months' time."

The meeting was then called to order, with Mr. Kleinschmidt in the chair. All preliminary business was suspended and the water question was started in anew.

Mr. Cumming was called upon for his orbition of the Miscourier upon for his Cumming was called upon for his nion of the Missouri river scheme. He opinion of the Missouri river scheme. He said: "The water question as it relates to Helena is one of much importance. In relation to the Missouri river project, I find that the source at the confluence of the May York Engineering and Mining Journal, and an acknowledged that the confluence of the river at Three Forks is 70 feet higher than the depot. It would be necessary to build a tunnel through the mountains to get it here. If it was to be conducted around the mountains the distance would be so great as to render the plan impracticable as seems to be the plan urged.

as to render the plan impracticable as seems to be the plan urged.

The only way I can see to get plenty of water here is from Canyon creek; another place would be the Warm Springs creek. There are sufficient streams around Helena to give us all the water necessary for a good many years. The Missouri river plan is impracticable while Canyon creek is quite practicable. And in Ten Mile creek there is plenty of water if carefully handled."

Mr. Kleinschmidt-I think Canyon creek the most feasible place.

Mr. Hershfield—But you must remember it would be necessary to divide the supply; you could not deprive the farmers of the water for irrigation purposes.

Mr. Klein-chmidt—It would not be necessary to divide it; the city could condemn ths stream as a public necessity.

Mr. Parchen—Before you could get a court to grant the proceeding you would have to prove that no other stream was

Mr. Hershfield-The only source for a never failing water supply is the Missouri river. When our worthy chairman, Mr. Kleinschmidt, was mayor of the city, about five years ago, I had the honor to present this proposition to the council, when the this proposition to the council, when the city was looking for a water supply. It would entail an expenditure of about $500, 600. This sum looked large and I was laughed out of court, as the saying goes. But I believe it will be inevitable that Helena will have to be supplied from this source.

An old man who was present, but whom no one knew, spoke in reply to the major's interrogative. He said he put in the water works at Sedalia, Mo., and had worked for Woolston since he started. He took up about fitteen minutes time talking about the kind of machinery to be used, and only sat down when reminded he was on the words about

Mrs. Hershfield then said, "I don't want to be classed a crank on the Missouri river project, because I persist in its feasibility as a practicable source. Five years ago met a Mr. Humbert of New York in thi city, an expert hydrological engineer, with whom I discussed the water question. I whom I discussed the water question. I asked him to go and investigate the Missouri river source, this point being his suggestion. I told him I would bear the expense. He went and looked over the ground and was thoroughly satisfied that the idea was quite practicable and said the cost would not exceed $500,000. His idea was to have two pumping stations. He also said, at the same time, that when Helena attained 20,000 population the water supply would be a vexed question and could never be satisfactorily solved until a large source was reached. I think the work could be done for a great deal less at this time, labor being much cheaper than work could be done for a great deal less at this time, labor being much cheaper than when the estimate was made."

The water question being disposed of Col. Curtis reminded the board that a Fourth of July celebration confronted the people. We should have a Fourth of July celebration on this occasion the equal of which never was seen in the northwestern empire. We want to show the poeple our improvements. Invite everybody to celebrate with us upon our ascension to statehood and have a goou id time barbecue that will do every body's heart good. Helena should take the lead before the other towns arrange for home celebrations."

The meeting was called to order by No bic Grand, P. G. M. Massena Bullard.

After prayer by the chaplain, Dep. G. M. S. I. Stone, the ritual used yesterday all over the country was read.

Master of Ceremonies P. G. M. Dr. C. K. Cole said they had met in commenceration. Master of Ceremonies F. G. M. Dr. C. K.
Cole said they had met in commemoration of the seventleth anniversary of Odd Fellowship. The exercises just listened to were prescribed by the sovereign grand lodge. He would introduce Gov. Leslie, an old Odd Fellow, who would make a few make a speech and would not make one. He had mixed and mingled with Odd Fel-lows for a quarter of a century and knew something about its workings, caring for sick and destitute, closing the eyes of the dead and standing with the widows and sick and destitute, closing the eyes of the dead and standing with the widows and orphans, drying their tears and sustaining them in their silletion. Such things as these drew him closer to the order and its members. While his membership was not in Montana, yet he had been farther away from his lodge than he was at present, and always find himself at home. He felt he was among odd feilows. It was always the same and always would be. The governor closed by exhorting all to stand together and help hold higher and higher the banner of the order.

After music, Hon. R. B. Smith was introduced. He said the country stood on the threshold of a new century as next Tuesday would be the incoming of the second century of our existence—a country now of 60,000,000. Mr. Smith traced the progress America had made and how it try now of 60,000,000. Mr. Smith traced the progress America had made and how it had been brought about by the inventive ingenuity of the American people, the steam engine, telegraph and telephone contributing. And as America had progressed the American institution of Odd Fellowship had also advanced. Starting in Baltimore with five members, it has now 700,000. This immense army was marchin Baltimore with his members, it has now 700,000. This immense army was marching on not for destruction, but for the ameliaration of the woes of mankind. For practical charity the order of Old Fellows stands at the head. More money is collected and spent by it than any other secret organization. The order in Montana is strong and growing stronger. There are now between 1,400 and 1,500 members in the territory. It has reached where it can the territory. It has reached where it can never know such word as fail. Dr. Cole said that as was well known the Odd Fellows were composed of various grades, ranks, etc., and he would introgrades, ranks, etc., and he would intro-duce a prominent Patriarch Militant, Capt. F. P. Sterling, who said there were 1.500,-000 Odd Fellows in the civilized world. The Patriarchs Militant was the youngest branch of the order having been organized but three years. They are the military branch of the order and are divided into departments, corps, divisions, brigades, battalions and cantons. The Helena can-ton was organized two years ago. Gen. ton was organized two years ago. Gen. John C. Underwood organized the Patri-arch Militant with a membership of thirty arch Militant with a membership of thirty and $2,500 worth of property. There are now torty-six departments, 611 cantons and property volued at $668,834. John C. Mc-Cabe is colonel-commanding Montana. Noble Grand P. G. M.
